Group Okays 14-70 Tax Cut Schedule Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees on the tax cut bill agreed today to President Johnson's request for a speedy cut in the wage and salary withholding rate to 14 per cent.

The effect will be to pour an additional $800 million a month into the economy as soon as the new rate takes effect. The present withholding level is 18 per cent.

The Senate had amended the bill to establish a 14 per cent rate for this year, instead of the 15 per cent voted by the House, and House conferees agreed at today's initial conference to go along with this.

The conferees did not settle the time for the 14 per cent rate to go into effect. The Senate voted to make it one week after the bill was signed.

Although the Senate and House are $500 million apart on over-all reductions, most of their differences are considered minor.

Not in controversy are the cuts for individual and corporate taxpayers.

Taxpayers subject to withholding deductions will have an estimated $200 million more in their pay envelopes every month.

The extra money for 80 million individuals and 550,000 business taxpayers is expected by the administration to give the national economy a shot in the arm to inoculate it against a business slump.

The Senate passed the bill Friday ahead of schedule. Its version called for an $11.6 billion reduction.

The House measure passed Sept. 25 provided for cuts of about $11.1 billion.

Most reductions in both plans would be effective retroactively of Jan. 1, of this year.

Somewhere between the two figures, the conferees hope to reach agreement before Feb. 22, which would leave the Senate and the House six working days to consider the compromise.

Mrs. Oswald Claims New Evidence

By W. B. RADSDALE JR. WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Marguerite Oswald takes "new evidence" before the Warren commission today which she says will prove that her son, Lee Harvey Oswald, did not fire the shots that killed John F. Kennedy.

The 56-year-old practical nurse, who asked for a chance to appear before the presidential tribunal investigating the Kennedy assassination, is expected to contradict testimony made last week by Oswald's 22-year-old widow.

Marina Oswald told the commission, and later a news conference, that she did not like to believe that her husband killed President Kennedy Nov. 22 in Dallas, but the facts would not permit her to reach any other conclusion.

Sessions of the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, are closed, but Mrs. Marguerite Oswald told reporters Sunday night:

"I think my son is innocent. I think I can produce evidence that he is innocent. I have documents, letters and other evidence. I think I can present a good case."

She said she has evidence which has not been brought out previously in the complex probe of the assassination, but refused to explain just what it would show.

Mrs. Oswald said she has been without work since the assassination, but had received $900 in gifts from persons who had written her.

"I've had 1,500 letters protesting the way my son was tried in a few hours and convicted," Mrs. Oswald said.

Oswald was shot down two days after Kennedy's death by Dallas night club operator Jack Ruby.

Woman 106, Not For Trip to Moon

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Agnes Fair turned 106 years old today and came out against men going to the moon and women going into politics.

Said Mrs. Fair, believed to be Knoxville's oldest resident, about the space race: "There's plenty of room on this earth for all of us and I can't see the need of sending a man to the moon."

On women in politics: "I know there is a woman in Maine running for president, but I think she, or any other wife and mother, has enough to do to rear and provide for her family. That's woman's main job."

Stores to Remain Open Later Fridays

Many downtown Hope retail stores will remain open until 5:30 p.m. on Fridays starting on February 14.

This later opening for many stores is for benefit of local persons to cash their pay checks. Many plant and factory workers don't get off in time to cash their paychecks by the usual 5 p.m. closing time.

Accidental Death Toll Reaches 17

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Eugene Durkee, about 70, died in a fire at his home at Pochontas Sunday. The fatality was the only one reported in Arkansas Sunday and brought to 17 the number of violent deaths during the week ended at midnight.

Authorities said the fire apparently started as Durkee poured kerosene on an open fire. Neighbors reported a loud explosion before discovering the fire.

Five persons were burned to death in Arkansas last week, four of them children who died in a house fire at Village in Columbia County. Six persons died in traffic accidents, three were shot to death, two were asphyxiated and one died of exposure.

$1 Million for Kennedy Library

BOSTON (AP) — Nearly $1 million has been contributed to the proposed John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

The Merchants National Bank, which is receiving donations, said the total reached $979,215 last weekend.

The $10 million library will house the assassinated President's papers and correspondence. It will be built adjacent to the Harvard Business School.

The bank said the contributions range from $250,000 from a charitable fund to 11 cents.

If You Want a New Standing Status in Your Neighborhood Just Buy a $165 Buffalo

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you're looking for a new status symbol, why not be the first in your neighborhood to own a live buffalo? You can buy one from the U.S. Department of Interior for 3,300 buffalo nickels—$165.

Valentine's Day originally was for the birds. It is celebrated on Feb. 14, because that is the time when doves begin to pair.

Americans this year are expected to send some 480 million valentines.

Fire, man's greatest friend against the cold, is also one of his most tragic foes. Fires last year cost nearly 12,000 U.S. lives.

America has more stockholders than union members. Women outnumber men among the 17 million who own shares in industry—and housewives make up the biggest single occupational group.

Drunken Elephants Are Now Terrorizing Rail Workers in African Game Preserve

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Drunken elephants are terrorizing railroad workers based at a small station in South Africa's Kruger National Park, a large game reserve.

At this time of year some elephants get drunk after eating fermented berries which have dropped from the Maroela trees growing in the park. Like some humans on a bender, some pickled pachyderms become extremely aggressive and unpredictable.

One worker was returning from a party with friends when a drunken bull elephant tossed him off his bicycle and stamped the machine into the ground. The African suffered two broken ribs and cuts on his face, but escaped.

Another worker was sitting on his veranda when he heard a crack in the backyard.

"An old outcast bull elephant we call 'Patrolman' was tearing some fruit trees apart," he said. "Suddenly the wind changed and he came for me. I shut the kitchen door just in time."

"He ran around the cottage for about five minutes, trumpeting and flapping his ears, drunk as can be. Then he stormed off into the bush."

Forest Fires Costly

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—January was the worst month for forest fires in the 30-year history of Ouachita National Forest records. Forest Supervisor John Koen said 41 fires destroyed 1,200 acres during the month, January, 1963, was second high with 33 fires, Koen said.

Ruby Defense Asks Change of Venue

By JAMES MANGAN

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense chief asked today that Ruby's trial on charges of murdering President Kennedy's accused assassin be transferred to another city without going into any evidence. Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown overruled him.

Chief defense attorney Melvin Belli made the motion after Judge Brown ruled against him on two other counts:

A motion that would have required the state to turn over to the defense all its evidence against Ruby.

An attempt by Belli to read aloud newspaper stories about the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald by Ruby.

Ruby shot Oswald Nov. 21, two days after Oswald was charged with murder in the Kennedy assassination and the killing of Dallas patrolman J. D. Tippit.

Ruby, 52, returned to court to watch his lawyers fight to have his trial moved to another city on grounds that he cannot get a fair trial here.

Students in Alabama in School Boycott

By REX THOMAS TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—The entire white student body boycotted Notasulga High School in the face of impending desegregation today while at nearby Shorter, the integrated high school was closed because of a bomb threat.

Only six white pupils out of a student body of about 125 showed up at Shorter, where a spreading boycott also gained rapid momentum.

The school was closed for the day after a telephoned bomb threat, but there was no disorder. Six Negroes have attended Shorter High since last Wednesday.

One of the six Negro pupils assigned by a federal court to Notasulga High made an attempt to enter the school when it reopened today after a two-day shutdown resulting from a fire.

Only one white pupil came to school at Notasulga High and he left immediately when he learned he was the only one there.

Mayor James Rea, who refused to admit the Negroes last Wednesday because he said the school was overcrowded, told newsmen this morning that although he had no official knowledge of a boycott, it was apparent that many if not all of the white students had walked out.

Rea said that with the boycott, there was no longer a crowded condition and that there would be no need for further use of a new city fire prevention ordinance. It was used to stop the Negroes when they first appeared last week.

"It was our stand all along," the mayor said, "that it would be unsafe for the Negroes to be in there. If the attendance gets down below the danger point—and apparently it has—they can bring them on."

The white boycott developed over the weekend. The pupils decided to transfer to other schools rather than go to class with the Negroes.

Johnson Asks Insurance for the Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson declaring that Americans need, want and can afford "the best of health," urged Congress today to vote medical insurance for the aged this year.

In a special message to Congress on health problems, Johnson also announced he is creating a Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Strokes to find ways by the end of this year to reduce the hazards of these diseases by developing new knowledge and better using existing knowledge.

The first item in the lengthy presidential message was hospital insurance for the aged — a controversial program that has been before Congress for at least four years.

Spelling out the principal goals of his proposal, Johnson recommended that the insurance program be financed in part by increasing the annual earnings subject to Social Security taxes from $4,800 to $5,200.

Thus all workers covered by Social Security and earning more than $4,800 would pay more in taxes to finance the system.

Johnson said insurance benefits should be available to everyone who reaches 65. If the worker is not covered by the Social Security program, he said, the cost of insurance should be paid for out of appropriations.

In addition to raising the Social Security tax base and providing for appropriations for the non-Social Security cases, Johnson asked Congress to increase the Social Security tax rate by one-quarter of one per cent for both workers and their employers.

This, he said, would insure that the medical insurance would be "soundly funded."

Johnson said benefit payments "should cover the cost of services customarily furnished in semiprivate accommodations in a hospital, but not the cost of the services of personal physicians."

He said the plan would "in no way hinder the patient's freedom to choose his doctor, hospital or nurse."

House Votes to Cut Off Civil Rights Debate

By JOHN BECKLER WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to cut off debate on the civil rights bill in an effort to bring it to a final vote this afternoon.

Using their heavy majority to stifle Southern talk against the bill, the civil rights forces rammed through a debate limiting motion by 211-73.

Under it all debate on the controversial job equality section will end at 1 p.m. (EST).

But foes of the bill, chiefly southerners, could still cause difficulties and delay in reaching a final roll-call vote.

The House met early and was prepared to sit late in an effort to get the 10-part bill to a final vote.

The biggest question was what final form the employment section might take.

The Southern opposition made only a token effort to knock the section out of the bill during a 10-hour session Saturday and concentrated with some success on amendments designed to make it unwieldy, if not unworkable.

They also succeeded in using up so much time the leadership was forced to abandon its effort to reach a final vote Saturday night.

Republicans, who had hoped to leave town for the start of a week of politicking at Lincoln Day rallies, tried to keep the House in session all night, if necessary, to pass the bill. They failed, 169-159, to keep the legislative session going and then lost 220-175 when they tried to block adjournment.

The long Saturday session was marked by the first successful attempts by Southerners to get amendments approved over the bipartisan forces supporting the bill.

They got enough Republican help to add discrimination based on sex to the bill's ban against discrimination in employment because of race, religion or national origin.

They also won enough Republican support to exempt religious schools from coverage by the proposal and successfully supported a Republican amendment that would prevent any employer who refused to hire an atheist from being charged with discrimination.

When it looked as though an amendment to include discrimination because of age might be added too, the civil rights force had rallied enough votes to kill it, 123-94, calling the vote "a real test of responsibility" for those who professed to be trying to help Negroes gain better employment opportunities.

The carefully prepared bombing brought to three the toll of U.S. servicemen's deaths and to more than 27 the number of Americans wounded by Viet Cong guerrilla action in the Saigon area in a week.

It was feared more such bombings would be directed against Americans in a campaign of terror.

The scene of the bombing was Pershing Field, an athletic field near Saigon Airport used exclusively by U.S. service teams. Authorities said the bombs appeared to be U.S.-made, 20-pound aerial fragmentation bombs.

There was speculation that the guerrillas had warned Vietnamese residents that the bombs would be set off during the game.

$213 Million Moon Project Is Paralyzed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Striking Florida East Coast Railroad workers picketed Cape Kennedy and the Merritt Island moonport today, paralyzing $213 million worth of construction work.

The Corps of Engineers reported that apparently all 4,540 construction workers at the test center honored the lines, including

Terrorists in Viet Nam Kill 2 Yanks

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Two bombs planted by terrorists destroyed a bleachers during a softball game in Pershing Stadium Sunday night. Two U.S. service men were killed and several other Americans were injured.

An entire American family was injured. The father was kept in the hospital, but his wife and their young daughter were released after treatment. Three other women also were wounded slightly.

Vietnamese police reported they had arrested three suspects in the bombing.

The bombs had been planted under six inches of earth about 20 feet apart beneath the bleachers and presumably were set off electrically by Communist Viet Cong terrorists from some distance away.

Names of the victims have not been released pending notification of their next of kin.

In Washington the State Department issued a statement saying:

"This is the most serious of the series of incidents which the Viet Cong have perpetrated against the Americans, starting in 1957. We are resolved to continue extending full assistance to the government and people of Viet Nam in their struggle to put an end to such Communist terrorism."

CROW'S TESTIMONY

(Arkansas Gazette)

The sponsor of Amendment 39 to the Arkansas Constitution has provided a useful personal memoir on the origins of the amendment and its intent. The remarks of former state Senator F. C. Crow of Hope should help to clarify the work of the General Assembly when it convenes near the end of this month to enact a vote registration system.

Amendment 39 authorizes the establishment of a voter registration system. Amendment 8, the woman's suffrage amendment, lists the poll tax as one of the qualifications to vote. Attorney General Bruce Bennett and others argue that Amendment 8 means that the poll tax is still required by the Constitution. Mr. Bennett would have the state adopt a clumsy dual registration system, employing the poll tax for state elections and a registration procedure for federal elections. He argues that the state Constitution makes his approach alone acceptable.

Mr. Crow, a Hope lawyer, thinks not. Amendment 39 was enacted, he says precisely because there were at the time a number of moves afoot in Congress to abolish the poll tax. He and some others foresee that Arkansas might lack the constitutional authority to enact a new registration system. Amendment 39 was the result.

Mr. Crow believes, as we do, that Amendment 39 supersedes the earlier amendments on voter qualifications. He offers this prediction:

"The earlier constitutional provision regarding voter qualifications would, in my opinion, be ruled obsolete by the courts." The legislature must act largely on assumptions about what the courts will do. There is no way to obtain a definitive ruling in advance of the special session. We think it is a fairly safe assumption that Mr. Crow is right — he certainly, at the least should know about the intent of the constitutional amendment — and that the state Supreme Court would uphold a new registration law independent of the poll tax. Mr. Crow's testimony immeasurably strengthens the case for the Assembly to enact a simple, just and tax-free system.

Coast Guard Crew Was Bit Surprised

NEW YORK (AP)—No one in the Coast Guard's Rescue Coordination Center could recall anything more than an occasional "thank you" letter for its efforts.

So it was with some surprise that 20 officers and enlisted men found themselves Thursday night at the apartment of Colin Leslie Fox. He threw a party for them.

"There's little enough gratitude expressed these days for favors done," Fox said.

Fox sailed from New York last Dec. 5 for Bermuda in his 32-foot boat. A friend reported him missing on Dec. 26.

Planes and ships searched a 35-mile area. On Jan. 10 Fox landed in the Bahamas, blown far off course.

The alert for Fox was one of the Coast Guard's 37,330 calls for assistance last year.

ALC Study of Registration About Over

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Rep. Hardy Croxton of Benton County urged the Legislative Council today to okay a voter registration bill providing for permanent registration and requiring the prospective voter to register personally.

Croxton said a permanent system with personal registration was the core of any voter registration system which would provide maximum protection for the right to vote.

Croxton's position was endorsed by Mrs. E. E. Elkins of Fort Smith, president of the Arkansas League of Women Voters, who was the first speaker as the council opened hearings on voter registration today.

Mrs. Elkins said the league had been working for a voter registration law since 1956. She listed eight criteria the league felt necessary to a good bill.

She did not endorse a bill written by Croxton but the league's position agreed with his bill in most areas.

Permanent registration and personal registration are two likely areas of controversy when the legislature turns to enactment of a voter registration law in a forthcoming special session.

Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr., who was to appear before the council later, has a bill providing for annual registration and permitting near relatives to register for the voter.

Croxton's bill has a requirement for the voter to state his party affiliation and Cottrell's does not. This is another probable area of dispute.

The council is studying the broad question of voter registration and is expected to write a compromise bill for presentation to the general assembly.

The council hearings began under a cloud because Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said in a legal opinion last week that the state Constitution requires presentation of a poll tax receipt for voting in state elections and that the legislature cannot by-pass this requirement with a voter registration law.

The council voted to invite Bennett to appear and explain his position.

Several council members, including Cleveland County Rep. Raymond Mays, predicted today that the hearings could be completed in two or three days.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Rep. Raymond Mays of Cleveland County predicted today that the Legislative Council will complete its study of voter registration within two or three days.

This would clear the way for Gov. Orval E. Faubus to call a special legislative session to enact a voter registration law on Feb. 26, the date he has indicated he prefers.

Mays was one of the first arrivals for the Legislative Council hearing, which started at 10:30 a.m.

The agenda for the study was relatively small. State Rep. Hardy Croxton of Benton County and Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr. of Pulaski County have prepared voter registration bills and the League of Women Voters has asked to be heard today.

Today's News Around the World

PANAMA (AP)—A renewed pledge to press Panama's charges of U.S. aggression before the United Nations for the Organization of American States failed to act was delivered to more than 2,000 anti-American demonstrators Sunday night.

Max Arosemena, ranking cabinet minister, made the promise to a rally organized by the Panamanian Students Federation.

The demonstrators gathered at the Presidential Palace and heard Arosemena, then marched into downtown Panama and stoned a Cuban exile headquarters building. Speakers denounced the exiles as "worms supporting North American imperialism."

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Thirteen sports fans from Eastern European Communist countries and one East German woman Olympics competitor have defected, authorities reported today.

West German sources identified the Olympics competitor as Ute Gaehler, a 23-year-old secretary who was a substitute on the East German women's toboggan team. West German informants said she slipped out of her billet Saturday night while the rest of her team was attending a reception and made for the West German border 25 miles away.

Innsbruck police said seven Hungarians, five Czechs and an East German doctor who came here to attend the Winter Olympics events had asked asylum in Austria.

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Mafia chief Pietro Torretto, wanted for more than a dozen murders, including the booby-trapping of a car that killed seven policemen June 30, was trapped in bed.

Police said the 52-year-old gangster was armed but that national police and soldiers moved so fast into his apartment on the edge of Palermo Saturday night that he could not fire.

The government began a crackdown on the secret crime gang last summer.

BALBOA, C.Z. (AP)—The Panama Canal Zone's American policemen and pilots are up in arms because Gov. Robert J. Fleming is going to hire 50 Panamanians for the zone's all-American police force.

Fleming said Thursday about 20 Panamanians probably will be integrated into the force next week, and 30 more will be added later. He said the 250-man force ultimately will be increased by 100 men but didn't say whether the additional 50 also would be Panamanian.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A U.S. sentry killed one South Korean teen-ager and wounded another Thursday when the two boys broke into a restricted U.S. Army compound.

A U.N. Command spokesman said the 17-year-olds used wire cutters to get through the fence and did not heed challenges in Korean and English and a warning shot.

The spokesman said the area was under guard to prevent pilfering.

CAIRO (AP)—An Egyptian air hostess fell 8,000 feet from a United Arab Airline plane Thursday.

Officials at Cairo Airport reported that 25 minutes after the plane left Luxor Airport for Cairo, the captain felt strange vibrations. He found the exit door to the catering cabin had blown away and the stewardess, Hanaa El Abed, 25, was missing.

Search helicopters found the body in a village 45 miles south of Luxor.

DAKAR, Senegal (AP)—President Philibert Tsiranana of the Malagasy Republic says Russia vided for persons who continue to vote in a county from which they have moved.

Mays said many Cleveland County residents have moved to Pine Bluff in neighboring Jefferson County but continue to vote in Cleveland County elections.

Mays said he likes Cottrell's idea of annual registrations and believes with Cottrell that it should be conducted along with the annual assessment of personal property.

"Practically every grown person has to assess property anyhow, Mays said. He said he felt that replacing the poll tax system with the voter registration system would result in a reduction this year of the number of qualified voters.

A record more than 630,000 Arkansans have paid the current poll tax and would have been eligible to vote in this summer's elections if Amendment 24 to the U.S. Constitution had not outlawed the poll tax.

Group Okays

The President wants quicker action. He would like to have the lower withholding rates go into effect as soon as possible. The bookkeeping machinery to do this takes an estimated two weeks or more to get into high gear.

Wages and salaries are now subject to 18 per cent withholding rates. The House voted to drop this to 15 per cent for this year and 14 per cent starting next Jan. 1. The Senate, at the President's prodding, voted to drop the rate to 14 per cent immediately to put more spending money into workers' pockets.

The Senate and House voted to cut individual rates from their present 20 to 91 per cent range to 14 to 20 per cent. Two-thirds of the reduction would become effective this year and one-third next year.

Both branches voted to reduce existing corporate rates from 52 per cent to 50 per cent this year and to 48 per cent next year.

Tsiranana made the statement in an interview with the Dakar newspaper United Africaine.

Guantanamo Civi Workers to Be Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced today that "the services of a number of civilian workers are being terminated" at the Guantanamo Naval Base and a new permanent water production plant will be installed there.

The statement was issued after a special Navy survey group had returned from a flying visit to Guantanamo and submitted its recommendations to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The actions were described as a "followup on the President's announced intention to move the naval base at Guantanamo toward greater self-sufficiency."

A Pentagon spokesman said he did not know yet how many of the 3,000 Cuban nationals working on the base would be fired, or exactly when this would happen.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro cut off last week base's free water supply which came by pipeline from a pumping station in Cuban territory.

The Defense Department announcement said the decision has been made "to install, on an accelerated basis, a desalination plant which will provide an adequate and permanent on-base source of water."

The spokesman did not have any cost estimates, but one type known to be under consideration would cost about $5 million.

While the plant is being installed, the Pentagon said, "present conservation and supply methods will assure adequate water for the base."

Before the Cuban supply was shut off, the base and its 10,500 inhabitants consumed about two million gallons a day.

Rationing, put into effect after the Castro move, now limits consumption to about 500,000 gallons a day.

The Defense spokesman said he was unable to say yet what would be done to replace the Cuban workers who are to be fired.

These workers perform many jobs vital to the smooth running of the base.

Rear Adm. John L. Chew headed the eight-man navy survey group which made the recommendations to McNamara.

Boa Constrictor Back in Cage

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Alliquippa's roving boa constrictor was back in its cage today.

Pet shop owner Clarence Mineard said he found the six-foot snake Sunday right where he expected to—in the basement of the pet shop.

The "baby" boa escaped from its cage Thursday. A fairly intensive search in the shop failed to turn up the snake.

Mineard said the snake posed little danger because it is too young to have much crushing strength. Boas are not poisonous.

Train Derails at Paragould

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Sixteen cars of a northbound Cotton Belt freight train derailed alongside the railroad station in Paragould today, one block off the city's main street.

Three of the cars carried chemicals labeled "dangerous," but none of the cars overturned and railroad officials said there was no danger of fire or explosion.

Ten of the cars carried 800 tons of crushed rock. None was spilled.

Cause of the derailment was not learned immediately, but one of the wheels on the first car to derail was broken.

Davis - Ashcraft Vow Exchanged Feb. 7

At the First Baptist Church Friday, February 7 Miss Joy Ann Davis exchanged marriage vows with Allen Ashcraft in an evening ceremony at 8 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Davis of Hope, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Ashcraft of Prescott.

Dr. George Balentine officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar holding white stocks, white gladioli, greenery, and burning tapers. Wedding music furnished by Miss Dora Ann King, organist, and Dr. Lowell Harris, soloist, included "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" as local selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace. Fashioned with a scoop neckline and a fitted bodice, the dress had long fitted sleeves which ended in ruffled points over the hands. The full-length A-line skirt swept into a chapel train. The bridal veil of illusion was attached to a large rose of peau de soie. A white orchid centered the bridal bouquet of stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Cary Castle of North Little Rock served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a street-length dress of aqua delustered satin with a matching hat and carried pink roses.

Wendell Ashcraft of DeQueen was his brother's best man. Ushers were Truett King of

THE OTHER WOMAN SPEAKS

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: The forsaken wife frequently appears in your column. But how about the other woman? And why don't you take up the cudgels for the abandoned husband?

I am what you call "the other woman." The husband who was involved with me had no home life. His wife was the put-upon little woman type who followed the letter but not the spirit of marriage. A home-body, she called herself. In name only, I'd say.

He was both a father and mother to their children; cooked their breakfasts, got them off to school, bought their clothes, did everything their mother should have done but didn't. We met when the kids were old enough to look after themselves. I heard from others how the mother was always off to some meeting, minding everybody's business but her own. I gave him the love and understanding he just couldn't get at home. I sure loved him and I believe he did love me. He's back with her now—she played on his responsibility to the children. Each day I ask God to help me face life without him.

It's easier for the wife than the other woman. Having been both, I know. My husband was never around when needed. I had to be father, mother and wife. I could have run off with the man I loved but didn't because of my children and I suppose the same held for him, or he wouldn't be back with his wife now. We had our fleeting stolen moments together—heaven in otherwise drab lives. My only regret is that we no longer see one another. Was it wrong for us to snatch a bit of happiness?

Dear Helen: I feel like taking some kind friends take my dog. Mother agreed. I knew nothing about this. The relative won't tell where he is, only that he has a good home.

They say the people are very attached to him, even though he has been with them less than a month. How could they care more than I, who had him eight years? My parents have given up trying to get him back but I have not. They, and the relative are trying to interest me in another dog. All I want is the dog I love and who loves me. How can I get him?—Broken-hearted Dog Owner.

Dear Broken-hearted: Actually, having given up the dog, you have no legal right to him any more. If you could learn the name of its present owners and talk to them as you've written me, it might help but I doubt it. My husband and I had a similar experience when we lived in Salt Lake City. We left his dog, a Rhodesian lion hound, with some people to keep while we were commuting back and forth between the West and East. When we settled down in Salt Lake the people reluctantly let us have him but, at the end of the week the wife appeared in tears, she and her baby missed the dog so desperately, might she have him back? There was nothing to do but say yes. If I were in your place I would do as we did. Buy another dog!

Dear Helen: Last autumn our family moved to another state. It was against the rules of the apartment house to keep a dog so, with tears in my eyes and an ache in my heart, I left behind a pet who had been my shadow for eight of my 15 years of life; giving it to a relative to look after. Favors Study of Arkansas Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Henry M. Alexander of the University of Arkansas said Saturday that rewriting of the state's constitution should not be taken lightly, but neither should it be shunned if the charter impedes progress.

Alexander told a constitutional convention seminar at Little Rock that the state's 90-year-old constitution is obsolete in many ways but still has twice as many desirable features as it has defects.

The chairman of the Government Department at the university said the constitution was drafted during a period when people thought all government was a "necessary evil" and required numerous restraints.

As a result, it contains many unneeded and outmoded restraints, he added.

He said it curbs duels, but authorizes horse racing and pari-mutuel betting; makes it necessary to elect county surveyors and deprives newcomers the privilege of voting in presidential elections.

Other speakers at the seminar included Dr. Charles W. Joiner of the University of Michigan Law School at Ann Arbor, and Dr. Martin L. Faust, professor of political science at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Joiner discussed the problems and approaches of Missouri when it revised its constitution. He helped with preparatory work for the Missouri constitutional convention in 1961.

The new Missouri constitution became effective Jan. 1.

Faust spoke on the adopting of the 1945 Missouri constitution and the inclusion of a provision for a vote every 20 years on whether a revision of the constitution is desired.

The Little Rock seminar was sponsored by the Committee for a Constitutional Convention. About 75 persons attended.

NORTH AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — It was an exhilarating ride for Nancy Thompson, 16, flying in a small plane.

When the pilot, George E. Martin, 45, a New York City detective, landed the two-seater piper cub Sunday at Zahn's Airport near this Long Island community, Nancy couldn't wait to tell her schoolmate, Martin's daughter, Judy, 16, all about the ride.

Nancy, of nearby Wantagh, leaped from the craft and ran straight into the spinning propeller. It killed her instantly.

American Skiers Do Selves Proud

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—This was the Winter Olympics that was salvaged for the United States by a second place finish.

When the Los Angeles Dodgers finished second in 1962, they locked their dressing room door for an hour, and brooded all winter.

But this time the second place, plus a third place, came in men's skiing.

For Americans to do that is something like asking the Austrians to organize a football team, send away to Pete Rozell for a book of rules and enter a team in the NFL. And then lose to the Green Bay Packers, 7-6.

The skiing medals gave the United States a total of six for the games, or twice the number of U.S. athletes who were arrested.

There were times during the games when the police, and especially the ushers at the big ice stadium, seemed to be out to give the wartime S.S. a good name.

They shoved and mauled innocent bystanders ranking all the way from newsmen to the Aga Khan.

"He may be a prince to some people, but to me he didn't have a pass," said one snarling usher, after he barred the door to the Aga Khan, who had a date inside with the Shah of Iran.

It may well take Innsbruck 20 years to live down the way the boys on the force behaved.

There were goodly crowds throughout the games, although that might not mean too much. Innsbruck is a venerable old place, with about 100,000 people, but there isn't much to do.

The whole town will turn out to watch a busted water main.

The Russians were the big winners, for the third time in a row. They got 11 gold medals, but the girls won seven. One other came in pairs figure skating and one in hockey, leaving two for the men in races.

Most of the Soviet medals came in sports that are about as fascinating to American as the apple bobbing championship of East Lima, Ohio.

Jean Sabbert, a serious girl from Oregon with an urchin hair cut and an urge to join the Peace Corps, won a silver and a bronze medal in women's skiing.

The only American gold medal came in speed skating, where Terry McDermott, who handles the shears in the third chair of a barber shop in Bay City, Mich., won the 500 meters.

Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., who was 15 two days ago, won a bronze medal in figure skating. He was the youngest skating medal winner in winter Olympics history.

Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., and Jimmy Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., won the medals in men's skiing.

Then, to the great relief of local authorities, they got the Olympic flame out before it started a brush fire.

With the lack of snow in Innsbruck, the gas-fueled flame had been a distinct fire hazard for 12 days.

Boston Tightens Hold on Cellar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston may have a tight hold on the National Hockey League cellar, but its standout rookie, Gary Dornhoefer, continues to pester the Bruins' loftier opposition.

Dornhoefer, playing his first pro season, whacked in a goal with two minutes left Sunday night to give Boston a 4-4 tie with league-leading Montreal.

The tie, coupled with Chicago's 2-1 victory against Toronto, threw the Canadiens and the Black Hawks into a first-place stalemate. Detroit went five points ahead of New York in their fourth-place battle with a 4-2 triumph over the Rangers.

Boston Coach Milt Schmidt praised the rookie who has scored 16 points in 17 games.

"The kid is always around the net which is something I can never get these other guys to do," Schmidt commented.

In Saturday's action, Montreal crushed New York 8-2, Chicago and Toronto tied 3-3 and Detroit edged Boston 3-2.

Ouachita in 14th Straight to Lead AIC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ouachita picked up its 14th straight victory and Arkansas College surprised second place Harding Saturday night in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball action.

Ouachita handed Henderson its sixth straight loss 78-75 in a game at Arkadelphia. Arkansas College upset Harding 83-72 at Batesville.

Ouachita's accuracy from the free throw line overcame a deficit of field goals to make the difference. Henderson hit 34 field goals to 22 for Ouachita, but the Tigers sank 34 of 46 free throw attempts compared to only seven by the Reddies.

Leon Clements led scoring with 27 points for Ouachita. Bob Sherron topped the Reddies with 23.

Ouachita maintained possession of the lead in AIC play with a 13-1 conference record. A pair of wins this week will allow the Tigers to sew up their second straight AIC basketball championship.

Arkansas College went ahead early in the game and led throughout as the Highlanders dumped Harding.

Lavaughan Robertson led scoring with 22 points for Arkansas College. Teammates Shelby Qualls and Bill Baxter each added 20 for Highlanders.

Ned Boaz led Harding with 20. He was assisted by Vernon Rogers with 18.

The victory gave Arkansas College a 7-7 league record and Harding went 10-4 on the loss.

Construction in Arkansas Drops

NEW YORK (AP)—Contracts for future construction in Arkansas dropped 10 per cent last December, but contracts for construction for the year ended Dec. 31 increased by 37 per cent.

The F. W. Dodge Co., marketing and information specialists, said contracts for future construction in December totaled $21,448,000 and contracts for 1963 total of $22,517,000.

Takes Cue From Arnold and Wins

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus remembered something Arnold Palmer showed him two years ago and used it to advantage in winning the $50,000 Phoenix Open, an event Arnie had captured the past three years.

"He used a driver on all the holes and won by a mile," Nicklaus recalled as he pocketed the first prize check with a 66 and 72-hole score of 271.

The burly young pro from Columbus, Ohio, proved his ability with a driver when he blasted 350 yards off the tee on the fourth hole and then hit hole high, six feet away from the hole on the 305-yard fifth hole.

That brought a birdie and eagle an ascent Nicklaus into the lead to stay en route to his first 1964 victory.

"You hit a driver and you have a chance for birdies," Jack explained. "You may hit behind trees a couple of times, but overall it's to your advantage to use the driver."

He proved it with a finish three strokes ahead of the tourney's Cinderella man, Bobby Brue, a former Milwaukee amateur star who got into the event only because 11 others dropped out. Brue, 29, was the last alternate admitted to the field, yet he put together rounds of 70-67-67-70 for a 274.

Until he bogeyed the 15th hole, Brue appeared to have a chance of catching Nicklaus, who had three bogeys himself on the back nine after a 30 going out. As it was, bespectacled Bobby collected his largest golf check—$4,000.

Deadlocked at 275 were Gary Player of South Africa, making his first 1964 United States start, and San Diego's Gene Littler. They had 72 and 67 respectively the final day.

George Bayer, the third round leader, went over par on the final two holes to finish at 276 despite being only two strokes behind Nicklaus through 16. He three-putted both the 17th and 18th greens. Big Jack birdied the 18th to boost his margin.

Winter Games Has Closed in Austria

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The turbulent ninth Winter Olympics has sighed to a close, nursing bruises, pondering lessons and wondering whatever happened to the snow.

Russia scooped medal honors with 11 golds, eight silvers and six bronzes. The United States placed eighth in medal standings.

The final Olympic event—the spectacular 90 meters ski jump—was watched in bright sunshine Sunday by a crowd of 70,000, the largest of the games.

The gold medal went to Norway's airborne Toralf Engan with Veikko Kankkonen of Finland second and another Norwegian, Torgeir Brandtzaeg, third.

America finished with one gold medal won by Terry McDermott, a barber from Essexville, Mich., two silvers and three bronzes.

Perhaps the most impressive U.S. finish was in the men's slalom on Saturday. Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., won the silver medal and Jim Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., the bronze. Those were the first American medals in men's skiing in Winter Olympics history.

Even before the games started, there were shocks and alarms. First the weather stayed fair and snowless, and the ski runs had to be hand-packed with snow brought in from neighboring valleys. There never was any snowfall for the games.

Then there were two deaths in training with a British tobogganist and an Australian skier the victims. The games eventually settled down to bruising and bloody clashes between the swarming Austrian police and most everybody that fell out with them.

Cameramen and journalists ended up in jail. Three American team members—Bill Marolt, 20, Aspen, Colo.; George Farmer, 25, Seattle, Wash., and Mike Hessel, 21, Eugene, Ore.—also got arrested. They stood up in court, wearing their bruises like badges. The police complained the Americans made all the trouble.

As the time came for extinguishing the Olympic flame in Sunday night's closing ceremony, calm returned to this mountain-rimmed Olympic site.

Russia took the ice hockey title after being pressed to the end by the Canadians, once the champions of them all.

The Alpine skiing events went to the Alpinists with Austria's Egon Zimmermann capturing the men's downhill and his countrywoman Christl Haas taking the women's event.

Austria won one other Alpine title, and France took the other three through Francois Bonlieu (men's giant slalom), Marielle Goitschel (women's giant slalom) and Christine Goitschel (women's slalom).

The Scandinavian countries swept all of the Nordic men's events as expected with Russia's Claudia Boyarskikh picking up three gold medals in the women's division—one of them for a share in the cross country.

Russia's Lidia Skoblikova made history by becoming the first athlete to win four gold medals at a Winter Olympics. She scooped the pool in the women's speed skating, invincible over every distance from 500 to 3,000 meters.

Russia's grasp was broken when the men took over, but the Soviet Union still picked up one gold, with the other three speed skating titles going to McDermott, Sweden's world champion Jonny Nilsson and Norway's Knut Johannessen.

Holland's Sjoukje Dijkstra, overwhelming favorite for the figure skating title, won with hardly a check in her elegant stride. Germany's Manfred Schnelldorfer took the men's championship, and the pairs were won by Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov of Russia.

The hobbsed events were won by England and Canada, both countries without a single bob run but with a lot of ambition.

Baseball Is More Than Swinging Bat

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Someone once tried to tell Dick Stuart there's more to baseball than swinging a bat.

Stuart, baseball's Cassius Clay sans verse, obviously wasn't convinced and today has his most lucrative contract to prove his philosophy is profitable if not necessarily altogether correct.

Boston's big first baseman signed his 1964 contract last Saturday. It is believed to call for a $7,500 raise, making Stuart one of the highest paid players in Red Sox history at $40,000.

Stuart cracked 42 home runs, second best in the American League, and topped the league with 118 runs batted in and 319 total bases. His .261 batting average naturally was overlooked as he was named the Comeback of the Year in the AL.

After all, he hit a low .228 with a meager production of 16 homers and 64 RBI for the Pirates in 1962.

Another of Boston's league leaders, batting champion Carl Yastrzemski, also returned his signed contract Saturday. Yastrzemski reportedly also received a $7,500 raise, which gives him a $27,500 salary following his .321 performance in 1963.

Veteran right-handed pitcher Bob Friend signed with Pittsburgh Sunday. Friend, entering his 14th season with the Pirates, should become the most worked pitcher in their history. His 3,019 innings pitched are topped only by Wilbur Cooper's 3,201 from 1912 to 1924.

Among others who signed during the weekend were outfielder Wally Moon of the Los Angeles Dodgers and pitchers Ken McEwen of the Los Angeles Angels, Phil Regan of Detroit and Earl Francis of Pittsburgh.

Then there's the first baseman who signed with the Dodgers. He's Dick Nen, the rookie who hit a dramatic ninth-inning home run last season that sent a crucial game with St. Louis into extra innings.

The Dodgers eventually won the game and shortly afterward clinched the National League pennant.

Bobcats Stop Malvern in Twin Overtimes

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

"Hope — the giant killer." This phrase very aptly describes exactly what happened Saturday night when Hope stunned league-leading 72-69 in a double overtime comeback victory in Jones Field House.

That game was a gasser and a half. There is little doubt that it will go down as one of the all-time greatest games.

The Cats extended their loop record to 4-3 at the expense of the 7-2 Leopards. Hope now shares the second 4AA spot with Camden.

Hope popped quickly into the lead and soon moved up to an 8 point advantage. They stalled here, however, and were unable to score again until Malvern had taken over the lead. The Cats came back to be ahead 15-12 at the quarter.

The lead seesawed back and forth during the second period, until the Leopards began to feed "66" Chancellor on the inside. In the final minutes before the Half, Malvern took a 37-32 lead.

The gap continued to lengthen during the Third Quarter, despite alert defensive work, especially by Henley and Honeycutt. The score at the Quarter was 49-42 for Malvern. Hope went into a full court press.

The sacking was erratic in the first minutes of the last period. Both teams scored in spurts. It just happened that the Cats had longer spurts. The gap was out to 2 points. It went back to four, then two again. The crowd was going wild. Everyone was standing, yelling, screaming. Several times the officials had to plead for silence from the crowd.

There were two minutes remaining in the game. Malvern led by a slim 59-57 margin. Hope shoots, misses, Jones with the rebound. From a tight little knot of flailing arms, Dan is up. He shoots, misses, up again, he shoots, misses. Up a third time, the ball rolls around the rim and drops in. The score is tied up at 59 all.

The Leopards move down the courts, determined. Honeycutt suddenly bursts forth to steal the ball and go barreling toward Hope's goal. Unable to shoot, he feeds it back. A minute and 20 second remain. Never has time passed so slowly. The Cats are waiting for the shot. The one shot that will send them ahead as the buzzer sounds. But it is not to come.

With only 13 seconds remaining, Malvern steals. A long pass from court sends the ball out of bounds and the Fourth Quarter comes to an end in 59-59 draw. Overtime must go into effect.

Malvern controls the ensuing tip and Chancellor goes in for the lay-up. The shot is good, and Burnett fouls out on him. Chancellor adds another points. It is 62-59.

Reinhardt sacks 2 to pull Hope back to 62-61.

Malvern brings the ball down again. The pressure is terrific. Another steal by Honeycutt. He rushes the lay-up and misses.

Possession is now Malvern. The man walk. Hope takes over. Reinhardt takes careful aim and sinks a long shot. Malvern still leads 64-63 with only 45 seconds to go in the overtime.

Stanfield tries to shoot, and Reinhardt fouls him. Out goes Reinhardt with his quota of fouls. Stanfield sacks 1. Only 33 seconds are left.

The Cats bring the ball in. Ottwell fouls Jones and goes out.

Dan misses on a 1-1.

The action zooms down courts. Chancellor is fed under the goal, but misses. Malvern controls. Hope Steals. A jump ball is called. Hope controls, they go down field, and the ball is tied up again. With 21 seconds to go, the Cats still trail 65-63.

Honeycutt and Chancellor go up for the jump. Malvern controls. The Leopards as much as have the game cinched.

Suddenly, sophomore Ronnie Ingram, who has come in after Reinhardt fouled out, materializes from nowhere and gently slips the ball from the grasp of a Malvern player before you could bat an eye. He streaks in, feeds Jones, who goes up and sacks a big 2 points. The game is 65-65 with 13 seconds still in the overtime.

Malvern goes down, but can't score in time and the second overtime begins.

The Leopards again control the tip, again spring Chancellor. This time, however, he misses the lay-up. Hope brings the ball out, and Chancellor uses his last foul on Henley. The Leopards are sunk ducks. To use a familiar expression: "The bigger they are, the harder they fall." The whole gym shook when Chancellor left the court.

Henley quickly sacked 2 points, and the Cats went into the lead for the first time since the initial minutes of the Second Quarter.

The Leopards calmly surveyed the situation, and decided to play cat and mouse. They cooled their heels for almost a minute and a half.

Thinking he had a shot, Starkey drove for the basket. He was met halfway by Paul Henley. For that, Starkey got a chance at the charity line, but he couldn't collect, and Henley came down with the apply. Starkey fouled him.

With one minute left, Henley also failed to sack his free toss.

Dan Jones and Doss tied the ball up Dan flipped it to Henley, who fed Honeycutt under the basket. Honeycutt sacked to put Hope out front 69-66.

The Cats again got it out on a palming infraction by Malvern, and Stanfield sent Thrash to the free throw line for a 1-1 shot. Both were good, and it was Hope 71-66.

Loser scored for them, and Stanfield again fouled Jones. Dan popped 1, and Hope was out front 72-68. Malvern went down, but was unable to score.

Coach Billy Mitchell, obviously very happy and breathing more heavily than normal, was only able to gasp, "It's wonderful, but it's sure hard on coaches."

The pep band, long promised, played during the game. Afterwards they played the "Funeral March." Dedicated to Malvern, no less.

Dan Jones led the evening's scoring with 22 points. Bill Reinhardt followed with 20, Paul Henley had 11, Jerry Burnett 10, Johnny Honeycutt 7, and Larry Thrash 2. James Chancellor sacked 26 for the opposition.

Porks Unable to Hold A&M; SMU Is Next

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

It won't decide the championship but it could go a long way toward it if Texas A&M should win a crucial Southwest Conference basketball game with Texas Tech at Lubbock Tuesday night.

The Aggies already have beaten all of the top contenders except Texas Tech—and on the road at that—and if they could trim the Techs in their own hall-iwick would be in the position of getting all of the tough ones on their home court the rest of the way.

Texas A&M stayed unbeaten and ran its string to six straight last week by trouncing Baylor 83-58 and Arkansas 72-64.

Texas Tech moved into undisputed second place by tumbling Southern Methodist 85-93 on the Red Raiders, with a 5-1 record, can push into a tie for the lead with A&M if they win the Tuesday game.

Only five teams are conceded to be in the championship race and one of those — Arkansas — is just hanging on mathematically. The Razorbacks, who took thumpings from Rice and Texas A&M last week, now are 3-3.

Rice and Southern Methodist are tied for third with 4-2 records.

Defending champion Texas is 2-4 while Baylor and Texas Christian are 0-6 and all three are being written off as contenders for anything.

Southern Methodist put the crusher on Texas last week when the Methodists edged the Longhorns 76-74 in an overtime game. Rice beat Arkansas 76-63 and Baylor 82-65 to stay in the race.

Southern Methodist plays Arkansas at Fayetteville Tuesday night while Texas Christian and Baylor clash at Waco and Texas and Rice tangle at Houston.

Searcy No Match for Hope Club

Hope's Jr. Rifle Club traveled to Little Rock last Saturday for a match with the Searcy Woodman of the World Club. Together, the two Clubs fired 46 shooters at the North Little Rock, Army. From a possible of 2,000, the local shooters shot an 1827 with Searcy shooting 947.

In the No. 1 team match, Hope's team of Grandy Royston, Jack Fountain, David Fincher, Gary Rowe and Jimmy Rogers, beat the Searcy team 478 and 360.

Hope's Sub-Jr. (13 and Under) team of Jack Fountain, David Fincher, Randy Still, Jimmy Rogers and John Van Riper, won by a score of 468 to 342.

Hope's No. 1 Under 12 Team of Charles Rateliff, David Ward, Dan Stuart, Don Williams and Greg Harrison, scored 446 points to Searcy's 155, and the No. 2 Under 12 team of Randy Still, Ben Downs, Doug Byrd, Mark Stephens and Mike Jones scored 435 points to 90 for Searcy.

Doug Cross and Larry Yates, alternate shooters on the Sub-Jr. Team were 6 and 8 points respectively, higher than Searcy's highest shooter.

This was the Club's first shoulder to shoulder match for the year. Especially noteworthy is the fact that the local Club, from a possible 100, had 14 of 17 shooters above 90, with 12 of the 17 being 12 years of age and under.

NLR Back in First Place, Delight 10th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Little Rock moved back into first place this week in the Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll, and last week's leader, Jonesboro, dropped into second.

The Wildcats picked up two victories last week, one of them a Big Ten Conference game, while Jonesboro lost a conference match to El Dorado and won a non-conference battle.

Other teams picked by top sportswriters and sportscasters around the state, are, in order, Fort Smith, El Dorado, Pine Bluff and Blytheville (tie), Valley Springs, Paragould, Little Rock Central, and a newcomer to the top ten, Delight.

Only Little Rock Central and Pine Bluff were in the same position this week as they were in last week's poll.

Fort Smith, in third place, moved up one notch. El Dorado

Southern Cage Teams Bunched Near the Top

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball has hit the top of the stretch with a quartet of Southern cage powers bunched near the head of the pack.

Kentucky, Davidson, Vanderbilt and Duke are among the nation's top ten, and all four moved into fourth place from seventh last week.

Blytheville dropped from third to a tie for fifth with Pine Bluff, which was in fifth place last week.

Valley Springs moved from eighth to seventh, Paragould dropped from sixth to eighth, Central remained in ninth, and Delight joined the state's top ten, replacing Fayetteville.

will be in the thick of this week's scramble for conference and national honors.

Kentucky No. 3 in last week's Associated Press major college poll, meets Southeastern Conference foe Mississippi State tonight. The Wildcats, tied with Georgia Tech for the lead in a wide-open SEC scramble, ran their season mark to 17-2 Saturday by routing Mississippi 102-59.

Eighth-ranked Vanderbilt is involved in the week's major SEC scraps. Vandy, one-half a game behind in the league race and 17-2 over-all, has toughies with Georgia Tech on Wednesday and Tennessee on Saturday. The Commodores, beaten by Tennessee in their SEC opener, nipped LSU 66-64 Saturday.

Fifth-ranked Davidson, 18-1, preps for Saturday's showdown at seventh-ranked Duke, 15-13, with two Southern Conference games. The Wildcats, idle last Saturday, will try to increase their league lead against Richmond Tuesday and Furman Thursday.

Duke, meanwhile, seeks a 20th straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory at Virginia tonight. The Blue Devils made it 27 in a row by slugging Maryland 104-72 Saturday.

The rugged Missouri Valley Conference rates top billing tonight, however, as fifth-ranked Wichita puts its MVC lead on the line against upstart Drake.

The Shockers, 17-4, dropped their first Valley decision in seven starts Saturday at Bradley 76-74 while Drake topped St. Louis 70-57. Drake, 4-1 in the MVC and 14-1 over-all, has climbed from last year's league cellar into this season's runner up spot.

UCLA and Michigan, the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 clubs, each won Saturday. But while Michigan, 16-2, coasted by Big Ten rival Illinois 93-82, the Bruins had to scramble for their 19th straight victory, a 58-26 squeaker over Big Six rival California.

Sixth-ranked Villanova, ninth-ranked Loyola of Chicago and 10th-rated DePaul all stumbled. Villanova lost star Wally Jones with a hip injury as well as a 63-19 decision to LaSalle. St. John's of New York handed Loyola's defending national champs their fifth defeat 71-69 and Memphis State buried DePaul 98-67.

Other major conference leaders and how they fared Saturday:

Southwest: Texas A&M, 6-0, beat Arkansas 72-64.

Big Eight: Oklahoma State, 1-1, beat Missouri 80-61.

Western Athletic: Utah, 3-0, beat Brigham Young 91-89 in overtime.

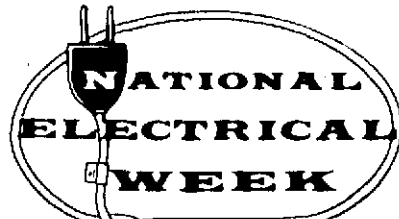

Ivy: Princeton, Cornell, Yale, Penn, 5-2; Princeton 72, Dartmouth 65; Cornell 84, Brown 68; Yale 73, Columbia 57; Penn 75, Harvard 67.

In the autumn of 1835, "Davy" Crockett passed through Little Rock. When it was known that he was in town, a group went to extend an invitation to a complimentary dinner. He was found in a back yard skinning a deer he had killed some five miles out of town, and referring to the deer he was skinning, he told the group "I made him turn ends at two hundred yards".

Packaging Army Food Improving
By MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Army researchers have talked of how they could put a fried chicken leg—just like mother used to cook—in the back pocket of every soldier in a foxhole.
It isn't as fantastic as it sounds.
Ten years of research on preserving food by radiation is beginning to bear fruit—meat and potatoes, too. But there's more research to be done before purchase of such items in supermarkets becomes commonplace.
The Food and Drug Administration has approved irradiated bacon and is expected to approve, within the next month, irradiated potatoes for which an application is pending. Applications are pending, too, for irradiated oranges and lemons.
Irradiation to preserve food is done by gamma rays or electron beams. It's the kind that doesn't stay on to leave any lingering radioactivity—it kills decaying agents and moves on.
FDA approval means that the irradiated food items are stamped safe for human consumption.
Researchers have talked of these advantages, among others, of irradiation to preserve food:
A farmer could virtually eliminate spoilage by giving his fruit a dose of radiation as soon as it is harvested.
A housewife could buy a ham, chicken or turkey and keep it in the pantry shelf for months.
Commercial fishermen could triple the shelf life of certain fish and other seafoods by giving them a dose of radiation and storing them at one degree above freezing.
The American soldier anywhere in the world could get food that tastes like the fresh item back home.
The Army has done extensive research at its Natick, Mass., Food Preservation Laboratory to find good field rations for its men.
Will radiation processing replace established methods such as canning and freezing?
No, says Anthony A. Bertsch, head of the government's interdepartmental committee on radiation preservation of food.
"It's like everything else in an expanding economy and a growing population—it's not going to displace anything," Bertsch said in an interview.
Estimates are that it won't hit the commercial market until about 1970.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas
By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer
Robert Moore, dean of students at Arkansas State College, has an unusual hobby that may prove valuable to the school in years to come.
He began digging through the school's records about a year ago to find the names of every graduate since the institution became a four-year college.
To date he has compiled a master list of some 6,500 graduates, prepared an IBM card on each of them — dating back to 1931—and taken on the task of finding the present address of each person.
He has found that about 10 per cent of the graduates are from Jonesboro. But the rest of them are scattered over the world.
The Texarkana Daily News reports the sighting — during a recent warm spell—of a young woman walking into a grocery store wearing short shorts and a heavy winter jacket.
Seen at Lake Maumelle, a "transplanted Californian" obviously enjoying the scenery, though she walked with the aid of a cane and had some difficulty negotiating the rocky terrain.
"I like Arkansas," she commented. But the combination of weather and rocks made her add that she'd rather return to the west coast.
Overheard in a south Arkansas restaurant after the heavy snow last year: "My youngest kid may have set some kind of record. He saw snow before he ever saw rain!"
The Charlie McDuffee farm near Lunsford in Craighead County becomes quite a busy place each winter as archeologists and others interested in Indian lore and artifacts dig to unearth burial sites.
The first find on the farm was made 10 years ago when workers discovered a skeleton. Authorities were called to investigate a possible murder, but the idea was dismissed when the bones proved to be about 300 years old.
McDuffee says at least 40 complete skeletons have since been found since the first discovery, plus hundreds of arrowheads and pieces of pottery.

We would like to express our appreciation to our friends during the illness and death of our mother. Especially to the ones who gave blood, to the nurses and to Dr. McKenzie at Memorial Hospital.

Gail pulled her hands away from mine, before she went on with her story. "Sammy looked at me and shook his head. 'You should know better,' he said. 'Now you just look here.' Chet began. Herm Wugalter slapped him across the mouth, backhanded, sudden, hard. Chet started forward. Sid Renault caught him by his elbows. Wugalter hit him low in the middle; he hit him four times. Sid let go and Chet fell to the floor. 'You shouldn't have done that, boys,' Sammy said. He turned to Jack. 'You better clean up your friend,' he said. 'Jack scurried like a jack rabbit touched by Florence Nightingale. Sammy looked at me. 'Pigeon,' he said, 'we got trouble. Cannard was a bad boy, a trouble. Also, like I said, a name.' I didn't say anything. 'You don't with Sammy, not unless he asks you to say it. He turned to Renault. 'How many know this bum was in Paradise West?'
"Just his fan club. Thirty, 50—all coming through the door with him. That's why we could not do nothing. Not in the bar, not in the casino, just through the lobby to the elevators. There Cannard raises his hands and makes a speech. Into the elevator he goes alone. He don't even stop on the pigeon's floor."
"Sammy shook his head. 'Real smart boy,' he said to me. 'We tell him to stay out; we tell him how healthy it will be to stay out after you fix him up. So he comes back altogether. He comes back with 50 teenagers.'"
"Chet groaned and tried to get to his hands and knees. Jack looked up at Sammy as if he didn't know what to do. Sammy told Mahoney to take the two of them into the bedroom of the suite.
"Then Sammy came back to me. He looked at me for a long time. He finally said, 'Bev, you go and rout out Avor. Tell him it's for the pigeon. Tell him to bring clippers, hair stuff, combs, make-up, the works. Tell him we want to turn our blonde pigeon into a short-haired brunette.'"
"Avor's a charming drunk. He is on 24-hour call at Paradise West. Drunk or sober, from Vegas, a slave sold on awake or asleep, he's never failed to set hair, comb hair, wash hair, give a permanent, do make-up, or otherwise accommodate a chorus girl or a dowager.
"Then Sammy turned to me. 'You got any Western clothes?'
"You wouldn't let me, I told him. 'You said I wasn't the type.'
"He smiled sadly. 'You're a good kid, pigeon. We're going to miss you. What's your size—shirt, pants, boots?'
"Twelve for the first two. I told him. 'Six-B for the boots.'
"You heard her, Georgie,' Sammy said to Little George. 'You call Ernie Goldmeyer and tell him to meet you at the store. You get her two or three outfits, all cowgirl. Also a suitcase and a cosmetic case.'
"Sammy, I said desperately. 'I don't understand.'
"This bum,' Sammy said. He points a toe at Cannard. 'Fifty teenagers see him come in. 50 screwballs. In this room he dies. We can't dump him. Tomorrow morning the maid will find him dead. Tomorrow morning you will be gone. All over the country the search begins for the murderer of Rick Cannard, for the blonde in the bird cage, not for a scrub-haired brunette cowgirl who has come to town with a rodeo type to get married.'
"But he, he killed...
"Sammy shook his head. 'He owes us 80 grand. For that he gets his life and you for a bride, a real nice bride. Not a bad bargain.'
"But me, what about me?'
"What about you?' Sammy asked. His eyes were like dead men's, cold and not seeing anything in that polished old man's face.
"And he sold the deal to Chet and Jack?
"They're both cowards. You should know that.'
"And for two years you've been their prisoner?'
"You could call it that.'
"And by the same token, I said thoughtfully, 'they've been prisoners of yours.'
"For all the good it's ever done me.'
I looked at my girl. Chattel from Vegas, a slave sold on

Great Moment for Bobcats: They Beat Malvern 72-66

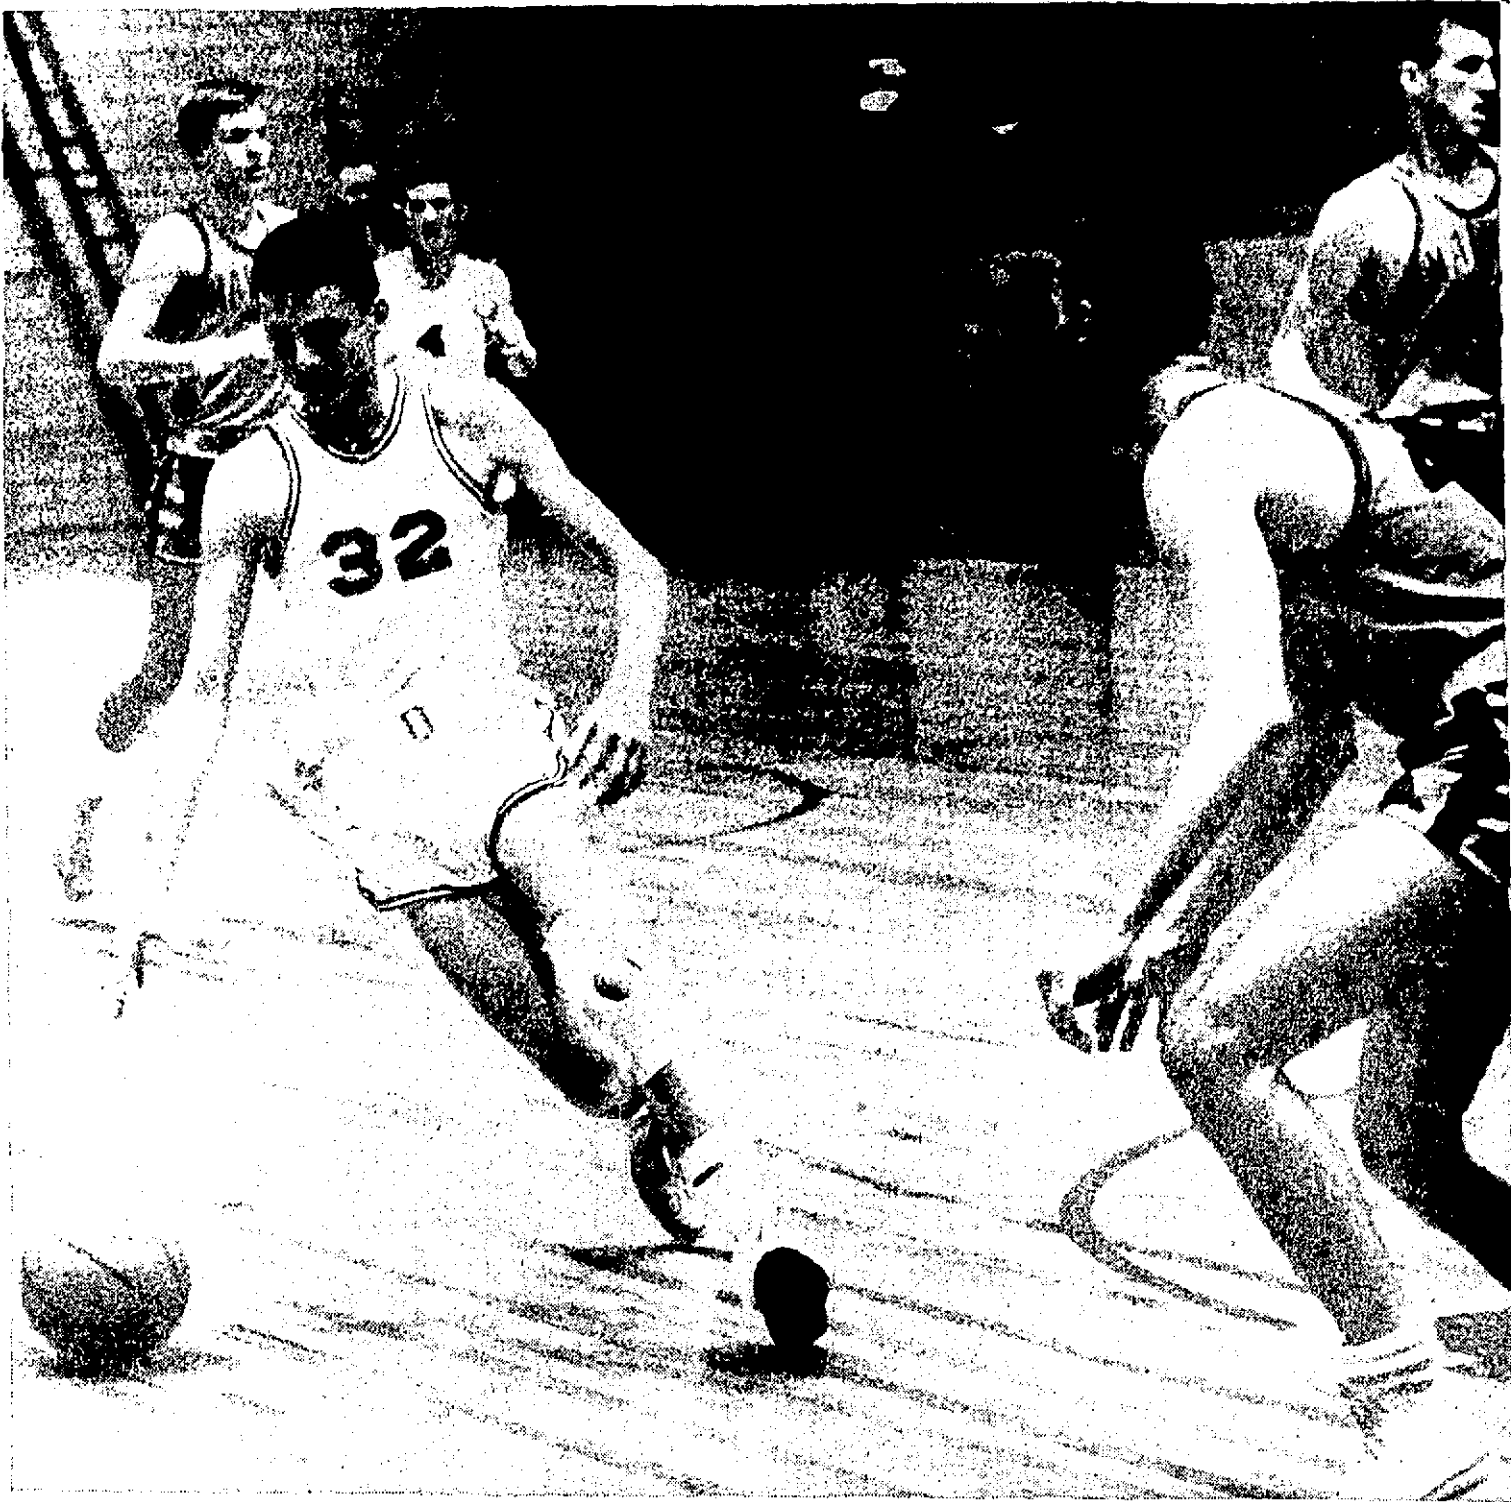

IN A THRILLER THAT REQUIRED TWO 3-MINUTE overtime periods, Hope defeated the District 4-AA leader, the Malvern Leopards, 72 to 66, in Jonas Field House Saturday night.

Bob Petit Is All-Time Pro Scorer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For a few hours Sunday afternoon Dolph Schayes was the all-time high scorer again in the National Basketball Association.

Then, just as it had done the night before, the ax fell on Philadelphia's 35-year-old coach and sometime player.

Dolph, plugging a gap created by injuries to 76er starters Larry Costello and Dave Gambee, tallied 11 points Sunday in Philadelphia's 120-109 loss to Boston.

The 11 points raised his career total to 19,220, five more than St. Louis' Bob Pettit, who had overhauled Schayes' Saturday night.

But Pettit, the Hawks' 31-year-old ring leader, reclaimed the lead later in the day with a 23-point effort as St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 116-111.

Pettit has 19,218 points in a 10-year NBA career. Schayes, who had his record in 15 seasons with the now-defunct Syracuse Nats, never may get any closer. Dolph is a part-timer now while Pettit is averaging 28 points a game.

While Pettit was dethroning Schayes, Los Angeles' Jerry West quietly returned to action after an eight-game layoff. The Lakers lost seven of those eight as West nursed a broken right thumb.

West, his thumb in a splint, scored 12 and 19 points during the weekend but failed to revive the slumping Lakers, who have tumbled from first to third in the Western Division.

The Lakers lost to Philly 109-101 Saturday and Baltimore 119-110 Sunday. They trail San Francisco by three games and St. Louis by one.

In Sunday's only evening action Cincinnati bombed Detroit 135-107 and stayed within 3½ games of Boston in the East.

Athletics Are an Improved Ball Club

(13th of a series of team prospects for 1964, written under the manager's own byline).

By EDDIE LOPAT
Manager, Kansas City Athletics

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP)—The Athletics are an improved club, mainly because of the winter trades that brought power hitters Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile and the fact that a number of our younger players have put in a couple of years in the big leagues. The latter should be ready to pay some dividends.

The main problem last year was our inability to manufacture runs. A home run at an opportune time would have enabled us to win many more games than we did.

The acquisition of Colavito and Gentile, who hit 46 home runs between them, should supply us with some of that much needed power.

We have several fine holdovers from last year who should be even better this year. Ed Charles has become one of the best third basemen in the league. He was sought by many clubs. Wayne Causey, after proving he can play all season, has given us a very dependable shortstop and the best hitter at that position in the American League. This gives us a good left side. With Gentile at first, that leaves only second base questionable.
